Suntec City Singapore holds Guinness World Record

In 2013, Suntec Singapore Convention and Exhibition Centre entered the Guinness World Records for the Largest High Definition Video Wall in the world. The digital video wall covers 556 sqm (5,986 sq. ft.) with its 664 units of 55 inch HD screens.

This is just part of Suntec Singapore's efforts to be the best in everything it does. As you walk through its halls and passages, you will be amazed at what you see there - from exhibitions of modern art to some of the best coffee that you can find anywhere. The entire facility is so much more than a convention centre - it is a lifestyle experience!

And as part of his vision of building a state of the art convention centre, CEO Arun Madhok implemented a cutting-edge video analytics system to do everything he needs, from managing crowds to detecting potential issues. In this video, Mr. Madhok shares his experience of implementing the system and the benefits that Suntec Singapore have reaped since - https://youtu.be/eowNe6FDFm0
